Pension bill establishes fixed future benefit increases

The Police and Fire Fund joins PERA's other plans with a 2.5 percent annual increase for benefit recipients once the plans achieve 90 percent funding for two consecutive years. Unlike the Coordinated or Correctional plans, P&F increases had been tied to the rate of inflation, capped at 2.5 percent, should sufficient funding be achieved. That changed under this year's Omnibus Pension bill.

Passed in the last days of the legislative session and signed into law May 22, the bill brought the Police and Fire plan in line with PERA's other plans on the annual increase procedure and amount.

That measure was just a small part of this year's Omnibus bill, a compilation of 19 individual pension related bills combined in the Legislative Commission on Pensions and Retirement. Some of the other provisions include:

- PERA's assumed long-term rate of earnings on investments was set at 8 percent. It makes permanent a slightly more conservative assumption implemented on a temporary basis two years ago. While long-term investment earnings by the State Board of Investment have matched or exceeded

PERA's other firefighter pension plan

PERA's Police and Fire Plan has been providing retirement benefits for regular salaried firefighters across the state since 1959. With the merger of the Minneapolis Fire Relief Association into the P&F plan in 2012, we now cover all full-time firefighters in the state.

However, when you look at Minnesota geographically, full-time departments cover just a fraction of the state. Based on real estate, most of Minnesota is served by volunteer departments—nearly 800 of them. That's where PERA's Statewide Volunteer Firefighter Retirement Plan comes in.

Just 6 years old this year, 92 departments have already decided the Association's administrative structure offers them real savings while meeting most of their reporting requirements. At the same time, the investment expertise and economy of scale available through the State Board of Investment allows them to assume a greater investment return over time. That means they can maintain or improve their benefits at no additional cost.

The Statewide Volunteer Firefighter Retirement Plan was established as a Defined Benefit Lump Sum plan, the structure used by the vast majority of volunteer departments. The plan provides a one-time benefit payment at retirement based on years of service and the benefit level chosen by the department and its sponsoring municipality(ies). Under legislation passed this year, benefit levels now range from $500 to $7,500 for each year of service in $100 increments. In addition, PERA can now administer monthly benefits for those few volunteer departments offering monthly lifetime pension benefits.

Additional information on the program is available under both MEMBERS and EMPLOYERS on our website.

I know what you are thinking. I'm so young I can't even imagine, let alone think about, retirement. I have so many financial obligations to deal with, retirement is just too far away (if ever) to begin to plan for it now. Then all of a sudden you experience your 40th birthday, and then your 50th, and you are no longer one of PERA's younger members.

Imagine yourself sitting across from a fortune teller who claims she can tell you exactly what your pension is going to be 25 or 30 years from now. Skeptical? If your retirement plan was a 401(k), you'd have good reason to be skeptical.

With that type of plan your eventual retirement nest egg depends on how good you are at saving, how good you are at choosing your investments, how those investments perform over time, and how good you are at watching your investments change (positive and negative) as the markets change. A host of variables can have a huge influence on your personal retirement fund by the time you reach retirement age.

With your PERA pension, the Association takes all those variables into consideration to determine our overall funding needs. Your investments are managed by professional investors at the State Board of Investment and have returned an average of 8.8 percent over the last 20 years.

However, because your retirement plan is a defined benefit plan, your pension will be based on a formula incorporating your age at retirement, length of public service and your average salary over your five highest-paid consecutive years of public employment. This means that PERA can tell you what your pension will be at any given retirement age. So, if retirement is years in the future, ignore the dollar amounts in your Personal Benefit Statement today. Instead, concentrate on the percentage of your income at retirement that will be replaced by your PERA pension. That's a powerful piece of information when you're planning financially for retirement.

Now, what if that fortune teller predicts that you will be guaranteed that monthly pension for your lifetime—a benefit you will never outlive? And, if you choose, upon your death that pension will continue for the lifetime of someone you name as your survivor. Dubious? Well, PERA's been doing exactly that for over 80 years. All our retirement benefits are lifetime pensions. So, when you've passed your 100th birthday, there will still be a PERA check deposited in your bank account each month.

What if that fortune teller said all this is free? Well, it's time to find a new fortune teller. In order to make this all happen we need your plan contribution every pay period. We also need your employer's regular contributions. However, the real magic happens when those contributions are invested over time. Over the last 20 years, approximately 70 percent of PERA's income has come from returns on our investments. In fact, once your PERA benefits begin, you will recoup all of your contributions after only two or three years. Not bad when you consider the average Police and Fire or Correctional retiree collects benefits for approximately 30 years.

What if that fortune teller says your PERA pension will not be enough? She may be right. PERA was never meant to be your only income source in retirement. There is also your individual savings and, perhaps, Social Security. If you're not contributing to your employer's 457 plan, start. If you are contributing, is it enough? Check out the Ballpark E$imate® on our website under RESOURCES. It's a quick check to see if you are in the rough ballpark of achieving your retirement savings goal, and incorporates your PERA benefits in the calculation.

Finally, stop wasting your money on fortune tellers. Instead, put it in your deferred comp.

The phone is convenient and fast, but we offer more with our online services

Why do PERA's counselors always encourage members who have access to the internet to take advantage of PERA's online features? It's quite simple: there are a lot more services and information available online than we can possibly provide over the phone. One of the main features we encourage members to take advantage of is MY PERA. Registration is convenient and fast.

Don't have a MY PERA account? Well, let's get started.

Creating a MY PERA account is simple. Typically, members can complete registration in a matter of minutes. Visit the homepage at www.mnpera.org by typing this directly into your internet browser. Select MY PERA on the left side of the webpage.

In the Member Log On window, select Register as New User on the left or at the bottom of the webpage. Enter the requested information, create your own password and security questions, and submit. Once you accept the Access Terms and Conditions, you will see a Welcome screen with your PERA account information.

I am Registered, now what?

Once you are logged on, select from the different options on the left side of the webpage. You can view or update many of the details of your account. Looking to update your address? Need a retirement estimate? Registering for a workshop or conference? It can all be done instantly from your MY PERA account.

But I Forgot my Password.

Resetting the password is easy. From the Member Log On window, select Forgot Password on the left of the webpage. Enter the requested information and submit. Once you answer your security questions or receive a reset password email, you'll be able to reset your password.

Is this secure?

MY PERA is our secure member portal. The servers PERA uses for MY PERA are protected by industry standard technologies, including password protection and firewalls. Personal information submitted by users and information provided by us through MY PERA are both secured with encryption. We are constantly evaluating and improving our security, including using outside firms to periodically test our security measures.

Oh no, I got an error message.

Error messages are not a cause for alarm. They typically indicate a field needs to be changed. If you get an error message, read it carefully and follow the instructions to change that field. We understand some members get an error message when they initially register after accepting the Access Terms and Conditions. If this happens, please close the window and attempt to log in again using the password you just created.

I'm still having trouble.

Please call a PERA representative for assistance. We answer calls regarding the use of our MY PERA online account feature daily and are able to troubleshoot a variety of issues. Some members have limited or restricted MY PERA access. Sometimes the website is unavailable when we are performing web updates. Before you become frustrated with the website please reach out to us for help.

Of course, you can still call and request information over the phone or contact us by mail, but we encourage you to make the most of our online features, even if you need a bit of help from time to time.

Are you in the rough ballpark when it comes to retirement?

Ever wonder if you are setting aside enough to fund the retirement you want?

The Employee Benefit Research Institute (EBRI) has created a short exercise to help you determine if you are in the rough "ballpark" of saving sufficiently for your future retirement. It is available as a worksheet or interactive calculator.

We have a link to EBRI's Ballpark E$timate® on our website under RESOURCES. It is also linked in our Do It Yourself Retirement Tool Kit. They're both online at www.mnpera.org.

the old earnings assumption of 8.5 percent, the measure was seen as a prudent move given the reevaluation of earning assumptions being made by public pensions plans nationwide.

The lower assumption was also adopted for the Minnesota State Retirement System and the St. Paul Teachers Retirement Fund.

- The interest charged for the repayment of a refund or the purchase of service will be 8 percent after June 30, 2015. Any interest accrued prior to that date will remain at the previous 8.5 percent.
- PERA's board now has greater discretion in determining when a contribution increase or decrease is warranted based on a number of factors before making a recommendation to the Legislature. In the past, contribution rates increased automatically based only on a specific contribution deficiency.

MERF

The Omnibus bill also provides for continued annual appropriations of $37 million from the state and MERF employers to cover the cost of MERF's future benefit obligations, ensuring the cost of those benefits are not shared by other PERA members and employers.

An amendment to the Omnibus Bill that would have expanded PERA's Board of Trustees to 12 members with the addition of a trustee representing Minneapolis Employees Retirement Fund (MERF) retirees was removed early in the legislative session.
